A Return to Capital Punishment.

A great many people think it is pretty bad business for the state to kill a man because that man has killed some one else. They are quite right. It is very bad business, and if any other procedure could be devised except punishment would be abolished at once.

Michigan has given imprisonment for life a fair trial. No criminal has been executed in that state for nearly 50 years. It was, however, recently voted by its lower house that the death penalty be re-established—that is to say, the policy of lenency has utterly failed, and it is more than probable that Michigan will again resort to the hangman's rope.

The people were startled one day by the news that a life convict had murdered his keeper and made a desperate push for liberty. Then the question occurred to every one at the same moment: Why should he not have done the same thing, since under the laws of the state no additional penalty is attached to the crime?"

Such a villain, when caught red handed after a second murder, is no worse off than he was before he killed the keeper. He was in for life anyhow, and when arrested he will be in for life again, but it is the same old life. If he succeeds in escaping, that is so much gain, and if he fails he loses absolutely nothing. The abolition of capital punishment is therfore an almost irresistible incentive to kill a prison official and make a dash for liberty.—New York Telegram.

Distances at the Fair.

To see all that is to be seen and improve all the opportunities it offers will be no summer day's task. One who comes to Chicago expecting to take in these wonders in a day or two or a week will go away regretting that which he must of necessity leave unseen. A month would not exhaust its interest. Perhaps it may be thought this is an overstatement. A few facts and figures will show that it is not. Jackson park, in which the exposition is being held, has a frontage on Lake Michigan of 1¼ miles and contains 533 acres, 77 of which are water.

The Midway plaisance is a mile long and 600 feet wide and contains 80 acres more. There are 39 exposition buildings [illegible], with a floor space of 159 acres. Adding the galleries, there are 199.7 acres. Grouped around there are 44 state and territorial buildings, 18 buildings erected by foreign governments and 40 others for the minor purposes of the management, restaurants and advertising wares and enterprises. In the Midway plaisance are the foreign villages, shops, etc., described in a previous letter.

The visitor who would merely take a passing look at each of the vast array of exhibits must prepare to walk along 121 miles of aisles. Add to this the distance from one building to another, which must of necessity be traveled many times, and the distance to be covered will reach fully 150 miles.—Cor Pittsburg News.

Depreciation In English Land.

Twenty years ago an agricultural estate in Essex, England, extending over 555 acres, was purchased for $105,000, and $25,000 was subsequently expended in buildings and improvements. It was recently sold at auction for $24,750.

NEVADA STATE JOURNAL.

WHY GOLD GOES TO EUROPE.

The statement from the statistician of the treasury department published in yesterday's JOURNAL explains why gold goes to Europe. That statement shows that for the year ending May 31, 1893, the value of exports was $827,378,215, a decrease as compared with the previous year of $174,910,700. The value of imports for the year ending May 31, 1893, was $930,001,267, an increase of $108,053,168 over the previous year.

That statement partially explains why gold goes to Europe. We are buying more from Europe than Europe buys from us and the difference is paid in gold. In addition to this European money lenders have hundreds of millions invested in national, state, [illegible] English syndicates invested a large amount of money in breweries and other manufacturing industries a few years ago, and the profits on these investments go to Europe in gold. These things, not the bullion purchase act cause the flow of gold to Europe.

During the year ending May 31, 1893, the balance of trade was in favor of the United States, and in that year the imports of gold exceeded the exports. The bullion purchase act was in operation then as it is now, yet the result, so far as it affected the export of gold, was entirely different, as in the last year the exports exceeded the imports of gold $102,456,728.

In the year ending May 31, 1893, the exports of silver amounted to $40,136,598, and exceeded the imports of the metal by $16,372,036, yet there are men right here in Nevada so thoughly imbued with goldbug ideas that they favor a tariff on silver bullion though we are exporting much more of the metal than is imported.

It was believed that the McKinley act would increase the balance of trade in our favor, as it was supposed to encourage home manufacture and enable the people to live on home products. The statement of the treasury proves that that theory was erroneous, as the balance of trade was in our favor before that act went into effect and since that it has been against us. In the last year with protection and reciprocity we exported $174,610,700 less merchandise than in the year previous and imported $108,053,168 more. Whether the new tariff was the cause of the great change is a question for political economists to solve, but the facts are indisputable.

It is clearly apparent from the statements of imports and exports furnished by the treasury department that the fact that we are buying more from foreign nations than we sell them is one of the principal reasons why gold goes to Europe, for when the government buys 4,500,000 ounces of silver monthly at less than two-thirds of its coinage value.

THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

It is announced by the Republican leaders in Ohio that they will not work until their opponents put tickets in the field, but will start right in for a vigorous campaign. They recognize the fact that they have a hard fight on their hands and the local orators are to be reinforced by imported speakers from all parts of the country. Sherman and Foraker have buried the hatchet for the time being, as they have come to the conclusion that bitterness and dissentions in the party will result in disaster and defeat. Success means the McKinley for president on the Republican ticket in 1896 and probably a seat in the senate for Foraker, while defeat is likely to result in the disintegration of the Republican party.

The Republican platform on which McKinley is a candidate is silent on the financial question, except the stereotyped declaration for honest money which the people know by experience may mean anything or nothing. The Democratic party has not yet held its convention, and whether it will ignore the financial issue as the Republicans have done remains to be seen. The Populists have so far made no nominations but they will doubtless have a ticket in the field on a free coinage platform.

As the financial question is the principal political issue and the Republicans are virtually silent on the subject the campaign will be watched with interest. With banks suspending, business houses assigning, the country threatened with a panic and everybody but themselves discussing the silver question it will be a remarkable political achievement if Ohio Republicans arouse enthusiasm among the masses. Men forced into bankruptcy by the goldbug policy are not apt to shout their voices shouting for a party that indorses that policy and has nothing to say on a question that is agitating the civilized world, save the meaningless phrase "we favor honest money."

AT Zurich, Switzerland, a publication called the Theirbuch was issued annually. It revealed the ages, occupations and antecedents of the women of the city and was more frequently consulted at public resorts than the city directory. Anyone desirous of learning the history of a woman referred to the Theirbuch for her genealogy, age, business, etc. This was extremely annoying to the fair sex and they combined to suppress the publication and have succeeded in accomplishing their purpose.

MORE than 2,500 persons took passage for Europe in the steamships that sailed from New York on June 4th.

SUNDAY OPENING.

The Decision of the Federal Circuit Court Reversed.

[Special to the JOURNAL.]

CHICAGO, June 17.—Chief Justice Fuller this morning overruled the decision of the Federal Circuit Court which issued an injunction restraining the directors of the World's Fair from opening the gates on Sunday. He decided for the United States Court of Appeals and remands the case to the Circuit Court for reversal of its action. Justices Brown and Allen concurred in the decision, making the court stand unanimous.

The court further made the point against the action by injunction, that it was not shown how any interest of the government might have suffered or would be injured by the fair opening on Sundays.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The opinion of the Court of Appeals in deciding that the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago shall be opened on Sunday was received here by press bulletin early in the afternoon.

Attorney-General Olney said he had not seen it to him that the end was reached though he was not entirely sure, having carefully examined the law, as an appeal should be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. The latter, however, would seem to be necessary as the court did not meet again before and before the case could be heard the fair would be closed by limitation. Other matters of a commercial character, he said, would probably grow out of the decision. It was uncertain to his mind that the government could not now give to the World's Fair authorities the $600,000 still retained in the treasury, which had been appropriated upon certain conditions. Doubtless the court into will be a proposition to take steps to recover the $1,900,000 which has already paid out. Perhaps the money could be impounded to prosecute the government, still he was not entirely clear as to this.

The Government and Contractor Dant Condemned.

[Special to the JOURNAL.]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Contractor George W. Dant was severely censured by the evidence given today at the coroner's inquest over the body of the Ford's theater victims. The United States government will look for a share of its method of doing work.

Thomas J. Kane, a contractor, said the government would not pay for such work. "The government," said Kane, "while it pays for as to the financial standing, cared to know nothing about its skill or ability."

The architect testified that the cost in the work was little better than. The builder said the manner of work was suicidal.

The jurors made inquiries of witness as to the state of Dant's mind. The contractor said he was not in [illegible] The remainder of the day was uninteresting, and at its conclusion the inquest adjourned to Monday.

Morello Wins the Chicago Derby.

[Special to the JOURNAL.]

CHICAGO, June 17.—The great Morello won the Chicago derby to-day in the presence of 12,000 people at the Harlem track. The weather was perfect, all conditions favorable. Time, 2:10.

The horses got off at the first heat, Ingomar leading with Boundless and Morello in the rear. Boundless took the front and passed the quarter ring, followed by Ingomar, Jockey, The King and Morello. At the half Morello moved to second place, the three-quarters Boundless leading by a length and the race between the leader and Morello. There was only a neck between the two at the finish, but Morello pulled up and won by a length and a half, Boundless finishing a length ahead of Ingomar. The purse was worth $5,000.

Attempted Train Robbery.

[Special to the JOURNAL.]

ST. JOSEPH, June 17.—Last night near Wathena Junction an attempt was made to hold up the passenger train on the Kansas City, St. Joe and Council Bluffs road. The train was under way and the fireman was engaged in throwing a stream of hot water on the coal in the tender when a man crawled over the coal and shoving a revolver into his face told him to throw up his hands. Instead of doing so Fireman Hemingway turned the hot water on the bandit, thoroughly scalding him. The man fired two shots at Hemingway and then fled.

The Viking Arrives.

[Special to the JOURNAL.]

NEW YORK, June 17.—Thomas Hardy, Norseman, Captain Anderson and crew, sailed into the port of New York to-day with a counterpart of the Viking, the ship of old, and was given a reception far different from that which its ancestors received 900 years ago. The Viking came down from New London, Conn., in tow. She was met by a steam launch with the committee of reception aboard. There was a great blowing of whistles, roaring of guns and dipping of flags. Addresses of welcome were made and responded to. A procession was then formed to take the ship to New York. The boats passed through Hell Gate and went down East river, cheered by thousands of people on the banks, and went under the Brooklyn bridge, and rounding the battery steamed up the Hudson river to 23d street. Here the Viking cast off her towing line, and putting out the thirty-[illegible] oars rowed to 34th street where she dropped anchor.

[Special to the JOURNAL.]

IRONWOOD, Mich., June 17.—The epidemic of typhoid fever here is the worst ever known in the state. The public schools were closed ten days ago on account of the disease. The armory and other available buildings have been converted into hospitals. The physicians are falling sick themselves from overwork and loss of sleep. The cases number nearly 400 now and the deaths from six to ten daily.

The number of victims is increasing. All steps so far taken to stop the ravages of the disease are ineffectual.

Coming West.

[Special to the JOURNAL.]

NEW YORK, June 17.—Manager Satolli, the papal delegate, and party have left Washington for an extended tour through the west. St. Paul will be the first objective point. The next stop will be at Helena, where a few days will be passed. Continuing further west they will make a short stop at Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma and Puget Sound. Thus far it is not determined whether they will visit the cities of California, but probably the journey will be extended to San Francisco.

The Buckeye Case.

CARSON, Nev., June 17.—In the Buckeye mining case of the Raycraft Bros. vs. Stevenson and the Millich faction was concluded to-day in Genoa. Justice Drake in rendering his decision as to the sufficiency of the evidence to hold Stevenson and Millich on the charge of an attempt to kill, decided that none of the defendants shall be held. The shooting which occurred May 30, arose over a question of water rights.

Weather Forecast.

[Special to the JOURNAL.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—The forecast for Nevada is fair weather and cooler.

The Fire Alarm.

The fire bell sounded an alarm at 11:45 last night and the fire boys turned out in short order, but it was ascertained that it would be useless to have the engine and hose carts go to it. It could not be learned, owing to the late hour of the hour, what was burned or anything concerning it.

ANNUAL REUNION.

The Class of '89 Entertained by Miss Jennie Lachman.

It has been much the fashion of writers and of people in general to ridicule the school friendships as something unreal and unlasting; somewhat akin, in fact, to the early love dreams of youth which the vulgar call "calf-love." Experience proves, however, that in some cases the latter is of a more serious nature than is usually considered, and proves, also, that the friendships formed in the schoolroom are often as durable, as lasting as life itself, ending only with life. Perhaps not even then, for, if love can live beyond the grave, may we not hope that friendship's ties shall not be broken here, but shall grow only the more firmly knit through all eternity.

One of the pleasantest features of graduation from any school, no matter of what rank it may be; public school, college, or university, is that kindly feeling among its members seems on this occasion to become strengthened and intensified so that in bidding adieu to school life and separated as a class they continue to hold each other in fond remembrance.

It has become the custom here in Reno with some of the classes that have graduated from the public school to hold annual reunions at which as many members of the class as possible are present. No class has followed this pleasing custom more steadily than that which left the schools in June, 1889.

This year they met at the pleasant residence of Mr. D. Lachman on West street; Miss Jennie Lachman, his daughter, deing one of the class.

This has always been known in the school as the "big class," as it consisted of twenty members, and it would be impossible to convince any one of them that a better, brighter class has ever before or since left the schools of this or, perhaps, any other town. Fourteen of its members were present at this reunion and with them met also their former instructors, State Superintendent Ring and Mrs. M. S. Doten.

The kindly feeling existing among the members of the class extending itself to and including those who had contributed to their education and start in life; and to these young people no reunion would be complete at which their old teachers were not present.

The evening passed merrily and quickly away in games of various kinds, enlivened by music, both instrumental and vocal. At 11 all were bidden to partake of an elegant entertainment; a[illegible]d when appetite was served reminiscences of school days were indulged in.

The class prophecy delivered at the time of graduation was discussed and its predictions compared and contrasted with the realistic. Strange to say it was found to have proven correct in only one or two instances! Of those present two only have been bound by wedlock's chains; Miss Myrtle Saben having become Mrs. Nels Coffin and Miss Katie Harrison having changed her name for that of Donovan. The young men of the class still remain single and laughingly declare that it is strictly "owing to the precept and example of Professor Ring that this is so."

Two of the young lady members present, Miss Nellie Rulison and Miss Clara Taylor, have become professional teachers; a third, Miss Lida Savage, is also teaching, but at such a distance from Reno that she was unable to be present. Mr. Ed Caine, who intends to fulfill the prophecy and become Judge Caine in time, proposed as a toast "The absent members." This was responded to by Superintendent Ring, who in a pleasing and feeling manner told of the whereabouts and present occupation of the absentees. Other toasts were given, responded to and drank in sparkling water; pleasant memories were exchanged; the old school favorites sang once more, and at a late hour the party separated, all feeling the younger and the happier for the evening spent with their former schoolmates and companions and vowing that these reunions shall be kept up until the final reunion when all shall meet beyond the river, never again to part.

ONE OF THE GUESTS.

The Reno Reduction Works.

The board of trustees of the Reno Reduction Works, consisting of W. O. H. Martin, Henry B. Rule, H. H. Beck, C. T. Bender and Henry L. Beck met last evening and appointed R. D. Clark superintendent of the works. The management consists of H. H. Beck, president and general manager; H. B. Rule, secretary; First National Bank treasurer, and R. D. Clark, superintendent. Mr. Clark is an experienced metallurgist and practical assayer and well known in eastern Nevada as a thoroughly reliable and responsible man, and persons sending ores to the works can rest assured of fair treatment, and in fact all those connected with the works are responsible and reliable citizens. A. B. Eastwood, a practical mill man, has been appointed foreman and Harry Clark assayer.

The Denver Iron Works are now building a copper matte furnace for the Reno works, which will soon be shipped and put in place, and all ores containing gold, silver, copper or lead will be sampled and paid for at the works.

Military Appointments.

The following appointees of Col. F. C. Lord, commanding the First Regiment of Nevada Infantry, were given commissions to-day by Governor Colcord; R. Reese of Reno, 1st Lieutenant on staff; D. L. Brown of Virginia, Quartermaster, with rank of 1st Lieutenant; Don. C. Haws of Carson, Inspector of Rifle Practice.—Tribune.

AMONG THE FLOWERS.

An Instructive Article on an Interesting Subject.

A plant has three parts, root, stem and leaf. A flower is a modified form of a number of leaves. The leaves are set on most stems so as to run around them in a spiral form. Now, if a stem is shortened up so that all the leaves on it touch each other, four or five of them will make a circle. Inside of this circle may be a number of incomplete leaves, not much more than leaf stalks. These last are the stamens and pistils of a flower. Outside of the circle of bright colored leaves, which we call the corolla, is a smaller circle of green leaves called the calix.

The bright colors and perfume are given to attract the attention of bees, butterflies and such insects as feed upon the sweets to be found in their depths. The insects while going from flower to flower in search of food carry by accident the pollin which is necessary to perfect the fruit upon which the perpetuation of the plant often depends. Such plants as do not need the assistance of insects have no attractive flowers.

The bright colored leaves which compose the corolla are called petals. Some flowers, like the poppy, have four petals, but most flowers have five. All of the rose family have five petals, and they are the flowers we love best. Besides the roses proper, apples, cherries, peaches, plums, hawthornes, blackberries, raspberries and strawberries all belong to the rose family.

One flower, the pansy, has the petals on the lower side, with two companion petals behind it and two more above. The lower petal is the queen, while the two next to her are the ladies in waiting.

There is a class of flowers that have more petals and stamens than one would care to count. They belong to the compositae or sunflower family. They are nearly always yellow and are a hardy kind.

We have in Nevada a wild flower which belongs to the mallow family. It is commonly called wild geranium, but it would be more proper to call it a wild hollyhock. It is very abundant and so hardy that it will grow in the most desert places. These same mallows are found growing among the rocks and sands of Arabia and Palestine. Its bright yellow, cup-like flower is a beauty.

The Indian pink grows also in Nevada, generally near some spring. It is the same Indian pink that grows on the prairies of the western states, except that it is larger and the flowers are more scattered on the stalk.

One of the most interesting plants in Nevada is a small thistle that lies flat upon the sand spread out like a patch of litchen on the bark of a tree. It is a complete thistle, leaf, stalk, flower, and seed with thistle, all grown in a space that could be covered by a teacup. It will grow when transplanted and watered, but will get up off the ground and look like an entirely different plant. The Indians use it for a salad, dressing it by simply shaking the sand out of its roots.

Our most common shrub, the sagebrush, is a specie of wormwood. It is not a beauty, but it has its uses. Indians and sometimes white men make thin campfires with sagebrush; and a tea made of sagebrush leaves is said to drive away the worst form of mountain fever. It ought to; the smell of it alone as you travel through a growth of it is stimulating. The sagebrush and thistle both belong to the compositae, and are about the toughest members of the family.

Another member of the sunflower family quite common in Nevada is the dandelion. It is not the same as the yellow star that nestles among the grass of the pastures and lawns in the east. Our Nevada kind aspires to be quite a plant, growing two or more feet high, and having many branches, each branch terminating in a flower not quite so large as in the other variety of dandelion mentioned, but equally as pretty.—Our Doings.

Miss Kate Bardenwerper has tendered her resignation as a teacher in the Carson public school. Miss Bardenwerper has been connected with the Carson schools for a number of years, and has the reputation of being an excellent teacher.

If Lyon county had a few men like C. C. Powning, F. G. Newlands, Wm. Thompson and others who reside in Washoe county, she would soon have double her population, and but a few acres of land would be out of cultivation.—Lyon County Times.

At the last meeting of the school board of Reno the salary of Mrs. M. S. Doten was raised from $100 per month to $120. A little over a year ago the lady's salary was raised from $85 to $100. All of which goes to show appreciation of her work on the part of the school board.

According to the Silver State the Piute war dance at Winnemucca is a very tame affair. Since Johnny Barrett left the town the Indians do not seem to understand the war dance. Johnny arrayed the red men in breech cloths and black and red paint and made them look so hideous that on one occasion they stampeded a train load of immigrants.

FIRE AT BATTLE MOUNTAIN.

Five Residences Burned Yesterday Afternoon.

A fire broke out in Battle Mountain yesterday and destroyed five dwelling houses. The town is supplied with artesian water from wells that flow a few feet above the surface and the people had no means of fighting the flames except by carrying water in buckets. The buildings destroyed were owned by Ephraim [illegible]ickett, C. A. Lee, H. Peters, Wilton McCoy and G. W. Crum. The Crum building was occupied by Archie Allen and family. The loss aggregates several thousand dollars.

Battle Mountain has suffered considerable loss from fires on several occasions. The Capitol hotel, owned by Dow Huntsman, and one of the best along the railroad, was burned some years ago, having been set on fire by a colored woman, who afterwards served a term in the state prison for the offense.

"O'Dowd's Neighbors."

Down on the bills of the opera house, June 30 next, is a farcical comedy in three acts, and affords Mark Murphy great opportunity to display his abilities as a star of laugh propensing magnitude. The piece is one a great deal better than other farce comedies. Mr. Murphy has for some time been known as one of the funniest comedians in the line of his profession, and in "O'Dowd's Neighbors" he has lost no claim to his former reputation as a laugh-provoker.

They Might Walk Back.

"I went up to the White House recently," said Representative Kilgore, "and of course I had a Texan in tow. 'Mr. President,' I said, 'this gentleman is a good man. He wants a consulate in Mexico.'

"The president said, 'Phew-w-w!'

"'Why do you whistle?' I asked.

"'Because he wants a consulate in Mexico,' said the president. 'You know very well that I dislike to appoint Texans to those positions.'

"'Now, Mr. President,' I said, 'you will excuse my speaking plainly, but this prejudice against men from my state holding federal positions in Mexico is the most confounded nonsense on record. I grant that it might apply to the candidate for minister, for he handles international questions, but a consul is nothing more nor less than a business man. His official acts are almost entirely of a commercial character. Texans are constantly doing business with Mexico. The trade relations of the two countries are very close.'

"'Well,' said the president, 'I didn't make this prejudice, but it exists, and we are compelled to defer to it. Your friend must widen the scope of his application. Let him make out a list of the consulates he would be willing to take, naming them in the order of his preference, and I will see what I can do.'

"It's a singular thing," added the congressman reflectively, "that nearly all of my people who have come to Washington want consulates—they won't have anything else—and they generally apply for places in Mexico, which they can't get. Their anxiety to be located in the sister republic is explicable, I suppose, upon the ground that it is near home, the Rio Grande is shallow, and if they go broke they can walk back."—Washington Letter.

The Expulsion of Jews From Russia.

There surely ought to be sufficient experience of the methods of the Russian government to discount the attempts at denial of the report [illegible] nt to this country by Mr. Harold Frederic concerning the expulsion of Jews from Poland. These ready denials are familiar phenomena. That is the manner in which Russia seeks to forestall unfavorable comment and righteous indignation.

Curiously enough, the ruse is always successful, nor is it to be wondered at when it can succeed in securing the active assistance of a United States minister like Mr. Smith of the Philadelphia Press, who, under the last administration, sent to the department of state a positive denial that any measures for the expulsion of Jews from Russia were under contemplation, while at the very time he was giving this misrepresentation Jews were being expelled en masse.

The testimony adduced by Mr. Frederick in substantiation of his report in regard to the expulsions now going on in Poland is corroborated by the arrivals of Jews from Poland in Germany and in this country. The bare denials of the press dispatches based on the official utterances from Russian diplomatic circles are utterly untrustworthy.—American

"August Flower"

For two years I suffered terribly with stomach trouble, and was for all that time under treatment by a physician. He finally, after trying everything, said stomach was about worn out, and that I would have to cease eating solid food for a time at least. I was so weak that I could not work. Finally on the recommendation of a friend who had used your preparations with beneficial results, I procured a bottle of August Flower, and commenced using it. It seemed to do me good at once. I gained in strength and flesh rapidly; my appetite became good, and I suffered no bad effects from what I ate. I feel now like a new man, and consider that August Flower has entirely cured me of Dyspepsia in its worst form. JAMES E. DEDERICK, Saugerties, New York.

Betrothal of the Duke and Princess.

The official announcement of the betrothal of the Duke of York, the ultimate heir to the throne, to the Princess May of Teck will be received throughout the country with a subdued approval. The young couple are, it is said, sincerely attached to each other, and we heartily hope the statement, in itself probable enough, is actually true, for the English idea in that respect, though no doubt born of sentiment, has behind it a solid basis of reason.

A prince or princess must occasionally submit to reasons of state, but nevertheless a king without a wife he cares about is a very unhappy kind of being. He rarely comes in contact with other close relatives, who are usually married away all over the world. He can have no male intimate friends—the difference of grade being too violent, and the deep suspiciousness of royalty as to the motive of courtiers' attachment being too incurable—and if he has female friends there is sure to be scandal. A well behaved, honest court is the best security here for the throne, as we have seen all through Queen Victoria's reign, and the best guarantee for that—the only guarantee indeed which works—is that the queen shall be the king's closest friend.—London Spectator

Trying to Be Polite.

An old man rode up to the door of a Cumberland county postoffice on a gig. As soon as the postmaster spied the visitor he tore around behind the little case of boxes, grabbed a letter and a paper and darted out of doors at the same high rate of speed

"Here's your mail, Mr. Smith. Little rainy, isn't it? Hope your ground's looking well," etc., until the old man tucked his mail under his leg and drove away.

The postmaster saw fit to explain a little when he came back. "That's one of the old seed Democrats of this town, and"—with a burst of confidence—"it always pays to be polite to them kind. I don't know as it will amount to anything, but it don't cost a cent, and," continued this rural diplomat, with a wan smile, "there ain't any signs of a new postmaster being appointed yet." All of which indicated the state of suspense of the fourth class postmasters in this devoted country.—Lewiston Journal.

Root and Branch,

The poison in your blood, however it may have come or whatever shape it may be taking, is cleared away by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's a remedy that rouses every organ into healthful activity, purifies and enriches the blood, and through it cleanses and invigorates the whole system. Salt-Rheum, Tetter, Erysipelas, Eczema, Boils, Carbuncles, Enlarged Glands, and the worst Scrofulous sores and swellings, are perfectly and permanent-cured by it.

Unlike the ordinary Spring medicine and Sarsaparilla, the "Discovery" works equally well at all seasons. All the year around and in all cases, it is guaranteed, as no other blood medicine is. If it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back, you pay only for the good you get.

Isn't it safer to say that no other blood-purifier can be "just as good?" If it were, wouldn't it be sold so?
